About NYSWDA

NYSWDA was established in 1985 to provide training and technical assistance to weatherization programs across New York State.

Since that time, NYSWDA has expanded its core membership to include building sciences professionals and allied individuals who are committed to improving home comfort and energy efficiency.

Membership in NYSWDA is not limited to agencies within the New York State Weatherization network.

Information Source

We are a 'go-to' resource for information and technical assistance, product information and best practices in the home performance and weatherization industry. Our trainers maintain an active interest in industry trends and each member of our leadership team has over 25 years experience in weatherization administration.

Education

We are recognized as a leading provider of building sciences training not only in New York State, but nationally. All of our trainers hold various industry certifications. The Training Center in Syracuse is a BPI approved online and field testing center.

Policy Integrity & Accountability

We are a commanding voice in representing the interests of home performance professionals to policy regulators, lawmakers and implementing agencies.
