Home Performance/Weatherization Crew Manager

Pathstone is a local non-profit corporation seeking additional skilled staff to support and help manage the installed services of the Weatherization and Energy Conservation Programs. The Weatherization Program provides energy conservation measures such as insulation, air, sealing and heating improvements to reduce the energy bills and improve the comfort of the home.

This position requires BPI Certifications and direct experience related to managing the daily operations of crew based activities. Additional on the job training and education for the programs specific work standards to update expired certifications can be provided as needed.

Applicants must also have direct experience with installing blown in insulation along with the various air sealing measures related to this field of work, must be able to interact well with customers and other crew members, lift a minimum of 50 pounds, work in tight spaces and complete the appropriate diagnostic procedures, documentation and reporting requirements of the program.

All applicants must have a valid NYS driver’s license, insurance and reliable transportation. Please respond with a resume detailing the specific work experience requested in this posting.

Email to: cbrandau@pathstone.org